Color Personality

The palette is warm, moody, and intentional — never stark white, never cold. Cream and plum are the signature pairing. When in doubt: Moonlight background, Finn or Tobacco for type.

The Zuzu submark exists in four colorways:

BRAND FONTS

Primary Typefaces

Romie (Romie Regular, Romie Regular Italic)

- Style: Elegant serif with editorial quality
- Use: Headlines, proposal headers, client-facing display text, design boards
- Feel: Refined, romantic, timeless

Art Company Mono Light (ArtCompanyMono-Light)

- Style: Lightweight monospaced / typewriter aesthetic
- Use: Subheadings, labels, captions, body copy in designed documents
- Feel: Modern, minimal, grounded — balances the romance of Romie

Supporting Fonts (from Chris & Lindsay project)

These have been used in client deliverables and are consistent with the Zuzu aesthetic:

- Optima — clean humanist sans, body text
- Cormorant Garamond — editorial serif, secondary display
- Jost Light — modern geometric, labels and UI
- Playfair Display Italic — decorative serif, accent use

Font Pairing Logic

Romie or Cormorant Garamond for display → Art Company Mono or Jost Light for supporting text. Never mix more than two typeface families in a single document.

AESTHETIC DIRECTION

- Overall feel: Dark and moody meets warm and editorial. Think candlelight, aged paper, dried botanicals, velvet textures.
- References: Ralph Lauren meets Nancy Meyers — in the garden. Film stills. Old European estates. Nature.
- Never: Stark white. Cold blue tones. Overly feminine pastels. Generic stock-photo energy.
- Always: Intention behind every design choice. Nothing decorative for decoration's sake.
